

Short bio on our guest speaker Barbie Wong: Barbie Wong is a music educator who helps parents raise joyful, musical kids. With music degrees from Stanford University and Smith College, Barbie believes that everyone has the capacity to learn music and teaches parents how to raise joyful and musical children through her workshops, online courses, and blog called “Musical Nest.” Over the course of two decades, Barbie has taught over 200 music students spanning various ages and backgrounds. When she is not teaching or making music, Barbie loves to do parkour and hang out with her teenage kids. For more information, please visit BarbieWong.com.